Anita R. Koblitz

JUN 1, 1922 - JUL 16, 2017

Anita R. Koblitz, (nee Lepshutz/Rosmarin) 95, died July 16. She was the wife of the late Adam and mother of David Koblitz (Leslie Gersing) of NY, Beth Koblitz (Ben Small) and grandmother of Nicholas Smith of NY. She was the sister of the late Sybyl Turano and much loved aunt to her nieces and nephews. After graduating from high school, Anita attended and graduated from Smith College. She dedicated much of her life to volunteering and being involved with the National Council of Jewish Women. In 1991 she was the recipient of the Jewish Federation of Cleveland's Irene Zehman Volunteer Award. Anita loved cooking -- and was known for her awesome blueberry pie (among other yummy delicacies). She and Adam traveled all over the world together. They were a great team... both, long lives well lived. ALL SERVICES PRIVATE. NO VISITATION. Donations can be made to the National Council of Jewish Women (ncjwcleveland.org) and the Southern Poverty Law Center (donate.splcenter.org)

Anita and I shared a lifelong love of reading. I was the recipient of a large piece of her spectacular blueberry pie, and she loved my cat and helped take care of him when I went away for a day. I am so happy that she could hear during the last months of her life. She will be truly missed. Helene Weinberger

I owe my very existence to Anita since she introduced my parents. She was my father's favorite cousin and my mother's closest friend from childhood through college - and beyond. We spent many weeks together with the Koblitz clan in the summers growing up, and the vision of my parents with Anita and Adam taught me how important good friendships and a great sense of humor are to everything we do in life.
